

Parks and Recreation is ordinarily a pretty wholesome show. Its humor can be somewhat biting - such as how Jerry gets treated - but overall it generally comes across as good, clean fun. In first season finale episode, entitled "Rock Show" the main character, Leslie Knope, is set up on a blind date with a 62 year old city manager of a neighboring town. Leslie thinks the dinner is a business meeting and only discovers partway through that George believes it is a date. Click the link below to watch clips from the show and see if anything jumps out as ageist...

Link to Parks and Recreation Ageist Clip

Here's an image still of the clip:

